An Extract from the Registers of the Cabinet Council of Poland, held at Warsaw the 8th of October 1713.

'WHereas the Fact and Circumstances 'of the criminal Enterprize of the 'Palatine of Russia and some other ill-designing Poles, has been wrong reported 'and misrepresented hitherto in divers Parts, 'insomuch that they have been said to have 'appointed a Day for surprizing attacking 'and assassinating the sacred Person of his 'Majesty with all his Court and German 'Officers: 'Tis thought fit, out of Love to 'Truth, to declare, that this Report of the 'Matter is false and groundless. At the 'same time that these forged Additions are 'exploded, 'tis also judged necessary to 'make known to all the World the bare 'Fact, viz. That the Treason discovered 'consists only of a prohibited Correspondence held by the said Palatine and his 'Accomplices with the Porte, Stanislaus 'Leszczinski and his Adherents; by Means 'of which Correspondence they have written to the Porte things false and purposely 'invented, the better to advance their private Ends; namely, by endeavouring 'to perswade and make the Porte believe, 'that there are a great Number of Malecontents in Poland, averse to his Majesty, 'and ready to receive Leszczinski in his 'Room, under the Protection of the 'Porte. But after this Treason, so artificially concerted and carried on, was timely discovered, and notified to the Porte, 'who far from seeing the Palatines and Army of the Crown come to joyn theirs, as 'they had been assured, understood on the 'contrary, that all the Noblemen and other Subjects of the Kingdom kept immoveably in their Fidelity to their lawful King; the Turks immediately caused 'the said Stanislaus and the few Polish Rebels whom he had with him to leave the 'Army, and sent them back Prisoners to 'Bender; and at the same time assured his 'Majesty and the Crown of Poland, that 'their Design was not to undertake any Hostility against his Person and the States of 'the Kingdom, but to observe religiously 'the Peace of Carlowitz, and that for a 'Proof of it they would withdraw their 'Troops from the Frontiers of Poland, which 'had been drawn together before the Conclusion of the Peace with the Czar, and 'which it had been thought fit to order 'in the mean while to advance to fortify 'Chocim. So that by the Retreat of the Turks, 'which is supposed to be already performed, 'the Fear of a Rupture with the Porte 'which had been entertained on the first 'Discovery of the Conspiracy, is considerably diminished if not wholly vanished; 'the rather because the Peace between the 'Czar and the Ottoman Porte is not in any 'manner prejudicial to his Polish Majesty, his 'Czarian Majesty having reserved to himself his Hands at Liberty to assist Poland in 'case it should be molested and disturbed a-'new by the King of Sweden, Stanislaus, 'or any other Potentate.

From the Amst. Gazette, dated Oct. 31.

Letters from Adrianople of the 18th of September give an Account, that the new Ambassador from the Czar arrived there the 11th of the same Month. That the Turks appeared extremely contented with his having brought the Ratification of the last Treaty of Peace, and had received him with great Marks of Honour. That the 14th he had Audience of the Grand Vizier, and afterwards of the Grand Signior, being accompanied by M. de Schapiroff and Czeremetoff; and that the Exchange of the Ratifications on both Sides was then made. That the Grand Vizier had declared, not only to the Czar's Ambassadors, but likewise to those of the King of Poland, that the Ottoman Porte being intirely informed of the little Right which the Palatine Leszczinski has to pretend to the Crown of Poland, acknowledged King Augustus for lawful King, and would exactly observe the Peace of Carlowitz. &c.

Warsaw, Oct. 15. We learn that by the last Express dispatched from Adrianople by the Palatine of Mazovia, the King's Ambassador extraordinary to the Ottoman Porte, that Minister has acquainted his Majesty that he had had a very favourable Audience of the Grand Vizier, who had given his Majesty the Title of lawful King of Poland, and promised to procure him a private Audience of the Grand Signior. Two Envoys from the Soltan and from the Cham of the Tartars arrived here the 12th Instant, and have taken up their Lodgings in the Castle of Jasdorf, where some Apartments were provided for them. 'Tis thought they will have Audience of the King on Monday next. In the mean while M. Tarlo, formerly great Master of the Kitchin of the Crown, who came with these Ministers, was Yesterday admitted to a private Audience of his Majesty, who has granted him his Pardon. 'Tis rumoured the Turks demand that a free Passage be granted to the King of Sweden through Poland to return to his own Dominions; that the Palatines Leszczinski and Potocki, and all the other Malecontent Poles, be restored to their Estates; and that the Turks be allowed to fortify the Castle of Chocim.

Lost, and taken out of a Barber's Shop in Windsor, last Saturday Night being the 25th Instant, a fair tol-lol'd Peruke Wig, but little worn; the chief Mark is, that whereas the Caul of other Wigs are generally drawn close together in the Crown, this, being made at first too shallow in the Head, has since been let out by opening the Crown of the Caul at least the breadth of a Crown Piece, and looks like a Patch set on behind the Caul. The Owner is not positive whether there is any Seal on it or no, but if there is (he thinks) the Impression is a Griffin's Head in a Ducal Coronet, under the Necklock on the outside the Head. If it be offered to be pawned or sold, all Persons are desired to stop it and the Offender; and if any one shall give Notice where it is, so that it may be had again, they shall have 2 Guineas Reward; or if the Person who took it shall bring or send it again to the said Barber, Mr. Manley in Windsor, he shall have half a Guinea, and no Questions asked.
